The breeder's right means that no other person may convert a plant variety to a source of income without the authorisation of the owner of the breeder's right (licence agreement): produce, reproduce, offer for sale, sell or otherwise sell, export and import. The owner of the breeder's right has the right to receive a fee for the use of variety propagating material.

The breeder's right shall be granted if the variety is young, different, uniform and stable.

The procedures for the granting of breeder's rights and the protection of rights have been adjusted in the regulatory enactments of Latvia The resolution applies to all varieties of plant genera and species (including hybrids). The owner of the breeder's right has the right to receive a fee for the use of variety propagating material.

In order to acquire the breeder's rights, a person shall submit an application to the State Plant Protection Service.

The State Plant Protection Service shall:

- review the documents submitted;
- take a decision regarding registration or refusal to register an application for the granting of the right of the breeder.
